Rule 2012-001a:- Non-Members Use of Club Playing Facilities or Playing for Section Teams

The following rule has been established by the Management Committee to help manage the situation where non-members attend a Club training session or play in one of the Club's teams. The rule states:-

New to Club Members

- Prospective members seeking to join a playing section may be offered a trial period of no more than 4 training sessions or 4 consecutive weeks whichever is shorter. At the end of this period a membership application form with payment or details of payment must be completed and submitted. Where the prospective member is under 18 a parent or guardian must remain on the club premises
- The relevant playing section must encourage the individual or family to join as soon as possible including ensuring that they have obtained their contact details and are either provided with a membership application form or arrange for one to be posted to them for completion after the first use of the facilities.

Existing Members in Arrears

- The principle is that they are unable to use the Club's facilities nor attend training nor play for a Club team. The playing section must do everything it can to encourage that person to renew their subscription.

Non-members playing for Club Teams

- The general rule is that only fully paid members may play for any of the Club teams.
- However, to allow a team to fulfil its fixtures an individual non-member may be permitted to play a maximum of 2 times per season.
- The person would be expected to be at least a non-playing member of the Club
- The relevant playing section must ensure that the Club complies with the relevant sporting body's own rules eg Scottish Football Youth Association and Cricket Scotland.
- Each playing section must retain a file of all such instances for occasional review at Management Committee.
- The relevant playing section must endeavour to get the person to apply for full membership.

Each playing section is responsible and accountable for ensuring that all players who use the Club's facilities or represent the Club have a current membership.
